THE UBUNTU INSIDER

February - March 25

Here's what has happened in the last month and what's to come!

Welcome back to our newsletter!

We are thrilled to share with you the latest developments in our mission to make a positive impact in our communities.

We are just back from our Africa trip, during which we installed water tanks and provided provisions to seven Maasai communities alongside our friends at AIP.

The water tank project was a very educational experience, as we have our mission for later this year.

Connecting with the children in the communities and distributing our basic needs bags was especially heartwarming. Seeing their smiles and hearing their grateful voices made all the hard work worthwhile. This initiative not only provided immediate assistance but also helped us build lasting relationships within the communities, emphasizing the importance of collaboration and support. We're excited to continue our efforts!

We also had the opportunity to visit schools in the Githogoro Slums in Nairobi, where we conducted an art class. It was an inspiring experience, and we have remained in contact with Caleb, the art teacher at Greener Lives Schools. We're actively working to support him in his efforts, especially given the connectivity challenges he faces. We hope to continue sparking creativity and igniting change, as the children we met had the biggest dreams for their future. It's uplifting to see their passion for art and their aspirations, and we're dedicated to helping nurture that creativity in any way we can.

The art workshop in honour of the 100 Online Art classes we conducted at Better Me was a complete success as we witnessed the incredible enthusiasm and talent of the participants. The children expressed themselves through various mediums, showcasing their creativity in ways that truly amazed us.

We engaged them in discussions about their dreams, encouraging them to think big and believe in their potential. The vibrant artwork served as a reminder of the importance of creativity in fostering hope and positive change in their lives. Overall, the experience reinforced our commitment to supporting artistic expression as a powerful tool for empowerment.

We also had the opportunity to inaugurate the sanitation facility, a first in our mission for water and WASH program. This is a significant milestone for us, as we believe that improving sanitation is crucial for the health and well-being of the communities we serve.

Based on our learnings and as part of our mission for water, with the help of Better Me, we placed two 1,000-liter water tanks in the homes of our scholars. This initiative is designed to ensure that they have consistent access to clean water. Seeing the smiles on their faces as we installed the tanks was truly rewarding, as it signifies our commitment to supporting their education.

We're thrilled to take this step forward in our mission for water and to improve the quality of life in the communities we serve.

Meanwhile, we have been interviewing several wonderful Mentoring for Impact candidates lately referred to us by the college advisors with whom we collaborate. Our candidates are from the Hisar schools in Istanbul and the French Lycee here in Barcelona.

We are excited to see where our journey will take us this time!

We continue to teach at our school in Chhattisgarh as part of our Water Aid India project, where we will be contributing towards the WASH program to support the girls in their education. We believe that access to clean water, sanitation and hygiene is crucial for their well-being and academic success.

To enhance our efforts, we hope to involve our Ubuntu mentees, who may join us in the fundraising and during our May/June initiatives. Their involvement will be proof of our commitment to inspire the next generation and also provide additional support whilst fostering a sense of community and collaboration amongst young women. Together, we aim to empower the girls to pursue their education confidently.

Lastly, we are in discussion with BFIS to join their Fun Run day where we hope to introduce the students to the valuable collaborations we hold as an initiative that they may wish to pursue for their CAS activities.!

Finally, we want to remind everyone that our work relies on the kindness and support of our friends and families. Together, we can make a real difference in the lives of those who need it most.

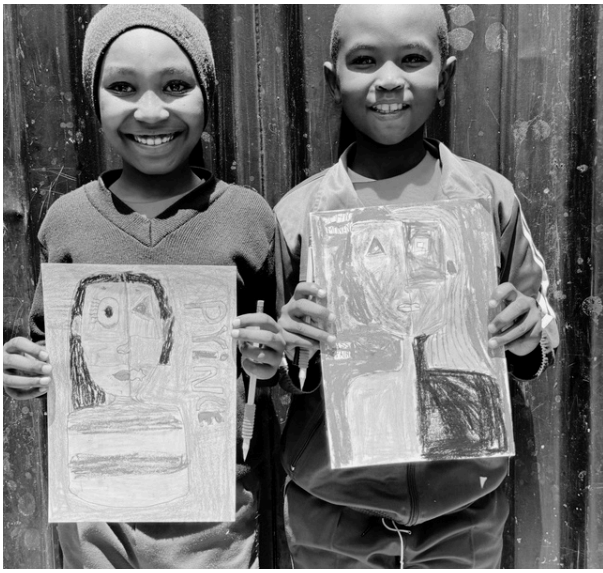

Thank you for your continued support!

INITIATIVE

What's Coming

As the Ubuntu Family Initiative, we are excited to successfully kick off our classes with the Greener Life School in the Githogoro slums, led by Caleb, the art teacher. This initiative is a wonderful opportunity to engage with the community and empower the children through education and creativity.

Stories of Impact

As part of the Ubuntu Family Initiative, we have installed a water tank at Belinda's home. With this newfound resource, Belinda is now thriving in high school, empowered to focus on her studies without the daily burden of searching for water. This initiative not only supports her education but also symbolizes hope and progress for her future.

Community Updates

Through the Ubuntu Family Initiative scholars program, we are excited to announce that our students have proudly received their Ubuntu bracelets, symbolizing their commitment to community, unity, and shared growth.
